

2018 Political Psychology SPSP Preconference

<http://meeting.spsp.org/preconferences/political>

Dear colleagues,

We invite you to join us for the 2018 Political Psychology Preconference, to be held in conjunction with the annual SPSP meeting in Atlanta on March 1st.

We are very excited about our line-up of speakers:

Christopher Dawes, New York University

Susan Fiske, Princeton University

Eran Halperin, IDC, Herzliya

John Hibbing, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Nour Kteily, Northwestern University Kristin

Laurin, University of British Columbia Brenda Major, University of California, Santa Barbara Deborah

Schildkraut, Tufts University

Registration is now open (<http://meeting.spsp.org/registration>). Thanks to generous funding from the International Society of Political Psychology, we are providing a $20 discount to the first 60 people who register for the preconference. Please use the code 18PolSci20 when registering for the preconference to receive the discount.

There are several opportunities for young scholars to present their work at the preconference:

Student Talk: Graduate students are invited to submit proposals to give a 25-minute talk about first-authored work.

Data Blitz: Graduate students, postdoctoral scholars, and early career (i.e., pre-tenure) scholars are invited to submit proposals for a data blitz talk. Data blitz talks allow presenters to discuss their work in a brief format. Poster Session: Graduate students, postdoctoral scholars, and early career (i.e., pre-tenure) scholars are invited to submit proposals for a poster presentation.

More information about the submission process can be found on our website: <http://meeting.spsp.org/preconferences/political>

We hope to see you on March 1st!

Sincerely,

Chadly Stern, Joanna Sterling, and Ben Ruisch
