WELCOME LETTER
From the President

THE GOOD SOCIETY: PROSPECTS FOR REASON, COMMUNICATION, AND WELL-BEING

Welcome to the 39th Annual Scientific Meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology. We are hoping that—thanks to you—the 2016 conference in Warsaw will be the best ISPP meeting ever!

As you may have gleaned from the ISPP newsletter, we have implemented a number of changes this year in an effort to put together a tighter, more impactful, and better attended ISPP conference: a shared experience that brings us closer to one another, both interpersonally and intellectually.

First of all, we have shortened the conference by a full day and are encouraging all participants to attend the entire conference from July 13-16, 2016. Second, the presidential address, which will be a bit shorter than in the past, will be part of the opening reception; we hope to see you there! Third, the award ceremony will involve a sit-down lunch and will be combined with the business meeting. Our hope is that this will increase attendance, participation in, and enjoyment of both events and help to build solidarity for our society as we share in each other's triumphs and confront the organizational and other challenges we face together.

Fourth, the keynote speeches will be presented early in the evening on each of the three full conference days—bringing us together for a culminating experience before we head off for various receptions and dinner engagements with smaller groups of friends. Fifth, we have invited a number of internationally renowned scholars to organize special symposia that are sure to draw sizeable, enthusiastic audiences.

On the ISPP website we advertised these invited symposia—as well as keynote speeches by Jan Gross, Diana Mutz, and Arie Kruglanski—early on in the process, and it is clear that the participation of these exceptional scholars amplified excitement about the conference. I am enormously pleased to note that we received a near-record number of conference submissions and are therefore welcoming one of the largest and most esteemed groups of ISPP conference attendees ever. There will be at least 628 political psychologists wandering around Warsaw this July!

I am truly indebted to Conference Program Co-Chairs Michał Bilewicz, Aleksandra Cichocka, and Christopher Federico, all of whom volunteered untold numbers of hours to insure that this conference will be a smashing success. They were assisted by Jake Appleby, who contributed mightily to the organization of the program. All of us wish to thank the section heads, who faced a more demanding task this year because of the large number of submissions: Daphna Canetti, Ivy Cargile, Mikolaj Czesnik, Soledad de

WELCOME LETTER From the President

Lemus Martin, Kristof Dhont, Nehemia Geva, Ewa Golebiowska, Lasana Harris, Roland Imhoff, Clara Kulich, Jaime Napier, Jonathan Renshon, Fabian Schellhaas, Monica Schneider, and Christian Tileaga. The administrative work of overseeing the management of the conference and coordinating a seemingly infinite number of details with the conference hotel was carried out in expert fashion by the Executive Director of ISPP, Sev Bennett, and her assistant, Heather Schlabach.

The ISPP Summer Academy, which was founded by Tereza Capelos, is now led by Chris Weber. We—and especially this year's lucky participants—are grateful to him and to the prestigious constellation of faculty members: Molly Andrews, Daniel Bar-Tal, Kevin Durrheim, Stanley Feldman, Helen Haste, Leonie Huddy, George Marcus, Victor Ottati, Janusz Reykowski, Nick Valentino, and Nick Wheeler.

Every year, ISPP honors a number of political psychologists who have made valuable contributions to our discipline and our society. I thank each of our members who have served on the various award committees, especially the committee chairs: Daphna Canetti, Martha Crenshaw, Rick Herrmann, Jon Krosnick, Howard Lavine, Tali Mendelberg, and Jonathan Renshon. Their work has produced a truly worthy collection of award recipients, and I look forward to celebrating their accomplishments with you.

Howard Lavine will continue his role as Founding Editor of Advances in Political Psychology, and Catarina Kinnvall has taken over as Editor-in-Chief of our flagship journal, Political Psychology. The home office is in Lund, Sweden, and Catarina's Co-Editors are John Cash, Caroline Howarth, Orla Muldoon, Martin Rosema, and Thomas Rudolph. The new Associate Editors are Emma Bäck, Hanna Bäck, Martin Bäckström, and Jacob Sohlberg. Kristen Monroe continues as Book Review Editor and Sarah Scuzzarello remains as Editorial Manager. Please note that my students, Vivienne Badaan, Susanna Stone, Melanie Langer, and I have put together a virtual special issue of Political Psychology on this year's conference theme of "The Good Society: Prospects for Reason, Communication, and Well-Being." Please check it out! <https://t.co/lf7LvKnfvN>

ISPP is the one international organization that supports the field of political psychology and works single-mindedly to increase its impact and visibility. As we grow in numbers, we also grow in strength and are better able to promote scholarship in political psychology. Therefore, I ask you to solidify your commitment to ISPP now and for years to come and to remind your friends and colleagues to insure that their memberships are up to date. It is vital that we are able to benefit from the talents of and represent the interests of everyone who works in this important discipline. Together we have much to offer a global society that needs a scientific approach to the subject matter of political psychology now more than ever!

ISPP President

WELCOME TO THE 39TH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY OF POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY!

Witajcie w Warszawie! Welcome to Warsaw!

The 39th Annual Meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology is taking place in a city that has long been a crossroads of political change. As you explore the streets of Warsaw, you will see signs of its complicated history, from the scars of World War II to Communist-era monuments to modern skyscrapers. You will see a vibrant city and meet its proud inhabitants, who even today find themselves facing antidemocratic political forces. As the political scene changes here and across the globe, so is ISPP.

Indeed, this year marks a number of changes to the character of our meeting. Together with ISPP President John Jost and with support from ISPP's Governing Council, we have worked hard to design a new conference experience. The conference is now shorter, yet packed as much as ever with exciting events. In particular, we are delighted to welcome Professors Jan Gross, Diana Mutz, and Arie Kruglanski as this year's keynote speakers. Their addresses reflect the breadth of interests within political psychology, from the dynamics of political communication and social cognition to the long psychological shadow cast by history. In the spirit of the conference's focus conceptions of Good Society, we invite you to attend a roundtable discussion featuring Professors Janusz Grzelak and Janusz Reykowski, two Polish psychologists who were instrumental in Poland's peaceful democratic transition. We are also extremely excited about a selection of new invited symposia put together by leading scholars the field. We have also expanded the number and range of poster presentations featured this year; these will be hosted in two large sessions that we encourage you to explore on Thursday and Saturday evenings. As in previous years, we feature a number of events organized by the Early Career Committee, including a Mentoring Lunch, the traditional Social Hour, and a new addition for this year—the Elevator Pitch Workshop.

Overall, approximately 642 participants will join us this year! We hope that the fantastic talks, symposia, posters and roundtables will help us fruitfully explore the theme of the Good Society and inspire us to find prospects for reason, communication, and well-being.

Of course, this conference would not be happening without the intensive work of our Section Chairs: Daphna Canetti-Nisim (University of Haifa), Ivy Cargile (St. Norbert College), Mikolaj Czesnik (University of Social Sciences and Humanities), Soledad de Lemus Martin (University of Granada), Kristof Dhont (University of Kent), Nehemia Geva (Texas A&M University), Ewa

Golebiowska (Wayne State University), Lasana Harris (Leiden University), Roland Imhoff (University of Cologne), Clara Kulich (University of Geneva), Jaime Napier (NYU Abu Dhabi), Jonathan Renshon (University of Wisconsin-Madison), Fabian Schellhaas (Yale University), Monica Schneider (Miami University), Christian Tileaga (Loughborough University). This year, they faced the very challenging task of reviewing a total of 619 paper, poster, and panel proposals, inevitably forcing them to put on the dreaded "Reviewer 2" hat. We are extremely grateful for their efforts and commitment.

We would also like to thank our Program Assistant, Jake Appleby, for his patience and hard work, which proved essential in putting this conference together. Likewise, we extend special thanks to Sev Bennett, Executive Director of ISPP, for her invaluable help and guidance over the past year. We are extremely grateful to John Jost, President of ISPP, for inviting us to be the Program Chairs and for supporting us every step of the way.

Finally, we are grateful to all participants who are joining us this year. Thanks to you, this promises to be one of our most exciting conferences so far!

Sincerely,

Aleksandra Cichocka, Michał Bilewicz, and Christopher Federico, Program Chairs

WELCOME LETTER
From Early Career Committee Chair

EARLY CAREER COMMITTEE WELCOME 2016

Welcome to the 39th annual meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology in beautiful Warsaw! This is the first conference where you will see our new name since July 2015 that is a better reflection of our members and active officers: the Early Career Committee (ECC). Although our name has changed, we make sure that we still offer the same resources and services to all scholars in political psychology who are within eight years of their degree. This year's event, The Good Society: Prospects for Reason, Communication, and Well-Being, has a slightly different format from previous conferences and promises many innovative and inspiring panels, posters and roundtables presented by junior and senior scholars from all over the world. I am pleased to announce that this year the ECC has organized a number of exciting familiar and new events, which our newsletter officers, Elif Sandal Onal and Kevin McNicholl, already announced in the latest Spring 2016 ECC Newsletter. We hope to see many of you at our activities.

On the first day of the conference we start bright and early with our new activity: the Elevator Pitch Workshop and Contest. During two morning sessions on Thursday July 14th and Friday July 15th between 8:00 am and 9:00 am, mentors will provide training to early career scholars. Being able to present your research in a short amount of time is an excellent skill for scholars on the job market. After the training, we will have each participant present their own elevator pitch in a short contest with a financial incentive for the winner. We encourage those who are finishing their dissertations, or who just finished and are seeking jobs to join us.

Another activity on Thursday is the Early Career Scholars Mentoring Lunch at 1:30 pm to 3:00 pm, arranged by ECC Mentoring Program officers, Stavroula Chrona and Thia Dickey. Over lunch, registered mentees and mentors will have the opportunity for small group discussion between emerging and senior scholars. Mentees will have the opportunity to discuss their research and to get specific advice on their scholarly work. We hope that the mentors and the mentees keep in touch during and after the conference.

On Friday we kick off with one of our roundtables organized by the ECC Professional Development officers, Emma O'Dwyer and Gary Smith. The roundtables are intended to initiate a wider dialogue between emerging and senior scholars. The first roundtable, titled Taking Political Psychology Online: Ethical and Methodological Issues, is focused on practical, ethical and methodological issues that researchers deal with when researching social media and online dimensions of political events and behaviors. Sharon Coen, Thomas J. Leeper, Simon Goodman will discuss guidelines for issues that may arise when using online participants such as informed consent. The second roundtable, Diversity in Academia, is scheduled for Saturday at 9:00 am and aims to understand diversity in academia. The panelists, Cristina Montiel, Felicia Pratto and Masi Noor will identify ways to overcome challenges and propose strategies to counter inequality in academic life.

At the end of the busy Friday program, we will hold the Early Career Scholars Social Hour offering an informal opportunity for networking among peers in a relaxed atmosphere. Always well-attended, the social hour is a great place to meet old friends, as well as new ones! In this hour, we also thank our ECC officers and welcome new members to the committee. Drinks will be provided. See you on Friday, July 15 at 6:00 pm.

In addition, ECC social media coordinators, Kanica Rakhra and Kulani Panapitiya Dias, continue to manage several online services. Especially for this year's conference we created a #ISPP2016 Twitter account to facilitate the exchange between conference participants during and after the event. Follow the ISPP Facebook page (facebook.com/ISPPJuniorScholars) and Twitter (@ISPP_ECC) to stay up-to-date regarding upcoming calls for papers and funding opportunities. As always, we appreciate any comments, advice or feedback on how we can best serve you; you can reach us at ecc@ispp.org.

Please join us to congratulate the 13 ISPP early career scholar members who were awarded this year's Travel Grants, a mechanism designed to provide assistance emerging scholars to attend this conference. This year's winners are: Sean Lane (Univ. of Missouri), M. Fatih Bukun (Middle East Technical Univ.), H. Hannah Nam (New York Univ.), John Kane (Stony Brook Univ.), Seyed Nima Orazani (Univ. of Massachusetts-Amherst), Gulseli Baysu (Kadir Has Univ.), Oded Adome Leshem (George Mason Univ.), Eun Bin Chung (Univ. of Utah), Fabricio Fialho (Univ. of California, Los Angeles), Michelle Twali (Clark Univ.), Ahmet Coymak (Suleyman Demirel Univ.), and Yossi Hasson (Hebrew Univ. of Jerusalem).

Finally, I would like to thank to all members of the 2015-2016 ECC. It has been wonderful to be working with such an enthusiastic and talented group of early career scholars!

Enjoy the conference and your stay in Warsaw!

Roberta Sigel Early Career Scholar Paper Award 2017

The Sigel Award is given to early career scholar authors of the best papers presented at annual scientific meetings. Nominees must be current ISPP members.

ISPP first announced this award at its Vancouver meeting in 1996. Professor Sigel, whom the award honors, was a distinguished professor of political science at Rutgers University. She was the author and editor of seven books and many articles and book chapters, mostly in the areas of political socialization and democratic citizenship. She had many leadership roles in the American Political Science Association and has served as program chair, Vice-President and President of ISPP.

All ISPP early career scholars who are current dues paid members of ISPP and had their paper accepted for the 2016 Annual Meeting are eligible to be considered for the award to be presented during the 2017 meeting. Early career scholars are students (graduate or undergraduate) and faculty who received their Ph.D. within the last eight years. Each award carries a cash prize of $250.

There are two awards with slightly different criteria to accommodate the authorship and publication practices in the various disciplines represented in ISPP:

- The first award is given to the best paper written by early career scholars only. In the case of multiple authors, all co-authors must be early career scholars.
- The second award is conferred to the best paper with an early career scholar first author. This award allows for a senior scholar co-author.

Please nominate (self-nominations are encouraged) eligible papers only (posters are not eligible) and submit them to the email below by January 15, 2017. Papers previously submitted to the Sigel Award are not eligible. All submissions will be read by the award committee, consisting of members of the Early Career Committee as well as senior scholars. Two papers will be selected strictly according to scientific excellence and their contribution to research in political psychology.

Best Dissertation Award Announcement 2017

The International Society of Political Psychology is pleased to announce a call for nominations for the Best Dissertation Award, given for the first time at the 2008 Annual Meeting in Paris.

All Ph.D. dissertations within the field of political psychology are eligible for consideration, regardless of home discipline. Dissertations should represent an independent piece of research that is the sole work of the author and gains the highest degree at the author's university.

Nominations are due by January 15, 2017, for dissertations completed and successfully defended between Jan. 1, 2016, and Dec. 31, 2016. Nominees must be current ISPP members. Nominations should be submitted electronically and must include a one-page abstract (300 word), a 10-page (3,000 word) summary of the dissertation, and a letter of recommendation from the thesis adviser or committee member, all in English.

For more information, see <http://www.ispp.org/awards/best-dissertation>

Send nominations to the 2017 Award Committee Chair:

Martijn van Zomeren
University of Groningen
m.van.zomeren@rug.nl

The award committee will request a copy of the full dissertation for those selected to participate in the second round evaluation. If the dissertation is written in a language other than English, the full dissertation may be submitted in the original language for the second round evaluation, and at least one qualified reader fluent in that language will be included as a committee member for the second round evaluation.

Bestselling Titles in Political Psychology From APA Books*

The Psychology of Democracy

Fathali M. Moghaddam

In The Psychology of Democracy, Fathali M. Moghaddam explores political development through the lens of psychological science. He examines the psychological factors influencing whether and how democracy develops within a society, identifies several conditions necessary for democracy, and explains how psychological factors influence these conditions. Written in a style that is both accessible and intellectually engaging, the book skillfully integrates research and an array of illustrative examples from psychology, political science and international relations, history, and literature. 2016. 257 pages. Hardcover.

ISBN 978-1-4338-2087-8

"Exceptionally informed and informative, impressively thoughtful and thought-provoking. The Psychology of Democracy is an outstanding work of accessible scholarship." —Midwest Book Review

The Psychology of Dictatorship

Fathali M. Moghaddam

How do countries become dictatorships? In The Psychology of Dictatorship, Fathali M. Moghaddam presents his "springboard model" of dictatorship, derived from both a substantive analysis of the common structures underlying dictatorial regimes and his own personal experience of life in a modern dictatorship. 2013. 255 pages. Hardcover.

ISBN 978-1-4338-1298-9

"This book is an important reminder of the ongoing worldwide struggle against dictatorship and of the historical and contemporary role of psychology in understanding and contributing to this struggle." —PsychCRITIQUES*
