

MINI CONFERENCE ON POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY IN SOUTH- EASTERN EUROPE

CALL FOR PAPERS AND PARTICIPATION

We are happy to invite you to the mini conference on political psychology to be held in Novi Sad (Serbia) 7-9.10.2016.

This Conference is partly sponsored by the ISPP's Small Grant program for 2016. It will be a perfect opportunity to get many of the researchers and practitioners from SEE in the field of political psychology in one place so that we can establish new, and broaden existing networks. As a relatively small community, we feel that it is of a great importance to get to know each other, to share our interests and to establish a group that can be organized quickly so that we can be competitive in the area of political psychology worldwide.

An important goal of this conference will be the opportunity to enable young researchers in the field to establish new ties and can open new areas of research. The conference is open to anyone who wants to learn more about the issues in modern political psychology, but also for those who seek partners in the region to conduct research with.

Topics for the Conference include (but are not limited to):

- Prejudice and discrimination
- Reconciliation
- Social identities
- Psychology and the politics

There will be one great and exciting plenary lecture, given by Stephen Reicher, University of St. Andrews, Scotland (UK), one of the most prominent social psychologists today.

One of the main aims of the Conference is to promote ISPP and to attract new members from this part of Europe. Therefore, we would like to invite all the interested researchers and practitioners from Slovenia, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Macedonia (FYROM), Albania, Kosovo*, Romania, Moldavia, Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary and Serbia to join us in Novi Sad in October.
