Every year, the International Day of Democracy on 15th September provides an annual opportunity to review the state of democracy in the world. This year's theme of democracy and conflict prevention focuses on the critical need to strengthen democratic institutions to promote peace and stability. We are pleased to offer our readers a 50% discount on four of our best-selling related titles: to find out more and to redeem the discount, please click here.

We are also delighted to be featuring another long-running series this month. Kantian Questions, edited by Pablo Muchnik, was established in 2012 and continues to publish original work on Kantian scholarship. We are offering a 50% discount on all titles in Kantian Questions: to find out more or to enquire how your work can be part of the series, click here.

Our September discount campaigns, with a time-limited discount of up to 60%, include:

Book of the Month – this month's must-read is Laughter and War: Humorous-Satirical Magazines in Britain, France, Germany and Russia 1914–1918, which breaks new ground by exploring the impact of the First World War through the medium of what the populations of the countries involved laughed at. It is “in every way an original and fresh contribution” to the field according to Anthony Cross, Professor Emeritus at the University of Cambridge, and we are offering a 60% discount on this title.
