

Meet our Authors – July 2018

We are delighted to be featuring the work of two more of our authors in this month's Meet our Authors campaign, which gives both established and emerging scholars an opportunity to detail their experiences of publishing with Cambridge Scholars.

Please click below to read the thoughts of Professor Emeritus Roberto Cantú and Dr Ferne Louanne Regis, and to receive a 50% discount on their titles.

This month's authors...

Roberto Cantú is Professor Emeritus at California State University, Los Angeles. A recognised expert on world literature, he has published five books with Cambridge Scholars, including the recently released Border Folk Balladeers: Critical Studies on Américo Paredes. Please click here to read about Roberto's experiences of working with Cambridge Scholars, and why he continues to do so.

Dr Ferne Louanne Regis is currently an Adjunct Lecturer at the University of the West Indies. In 2016 she published her first monograph with Cambridge Scholars, an analysis of ethnicity and identity among the minority Douglas group in Trinidad. Please click here to read her thoughts.

Happy reading!