

To all students and academics of the science of Psychology,

The UCC Psychology Journal at University College Cork, Ireland would like to announce that they are now open to receive submissions from all fields of psychology including: cognitive, neuroscience, linguistics, social science and any other papers that are relevant to the science of psychology and research.

The UCCPJ is a non-profit Psychology Journal within the School of Applied Psychology. The journal provides an opportunity for students, academics and professionals worldwide to have their work published.

Submissions are welcome in: English, German, French, Polish, Italian, and Afrikaans. Articles and papers should aim to contribute original and important findings which include new, as well as established areas of research.

Submitted papers should be intelligible to a wide range of readers while also staying true to the American Psychology Association (APA) style of referencing.

Submissions must be submitted in Word format and will only be accepted if they fall within the word limits outlined below.

Empirical research: Up to 7,000 words.

Theoretical Papers: Up to 5,000 words.

Letters to the Editor: Up to 1,000 words.

Abstracts: Maximum 300 words.

All papers and enquiries should be submitted to:

editor.uccpsychjournal@gmail.com

For additional information about the journal and for submission guidelines please view the UCCPJ page found at <http://www.ucc.ie/en/apsych/> and also view and like our Facebook page at www.facebook.com/UccPsychologyJournal

Submission deadline is the 20th of December 2013

Sincerely yours,

Siobhan O'Neill

Editor- in-Chief

Esther Ellen Cogan

Deputy Editor-in-Chief