

TOPICS: APSA working group on young people's politics (Chicago) 29-31 August 2013; call for papers on young people's politics at UK Political Studies Association Annual Conference

We have recently established a specialist group on young people's politics at the UK Political Studies Association (PSA) and would like to invite members of the ISSP interested in this theme (broadly defined - <http://www.psa.ac.uk/psa-communities/specialist-groups/young-peoples-politics>) to participate in our activities. If you get in touch, we will put you on our mailing list, which will inform you about new research, conferences, etc. in this area. In this regard, we would like to inform you about two events: 1) James Sloam and Peter Levine (Tufts/ CIRCLE) are convening a working group on young people's politics at the APSA Annual meeting later this month. If you are going to Chicago and are interested in attending please get in touch (james.sloam@rhul.ac.uk); 2) The PSA annual conference in Manchester next April – the group will sponsor papers/panels in the broad area of young people's politics (citizenship education/ political participation/ public policy affecting young people).

Best regards,

James Sloam

Dr James Sloam
Co-Director of Centre for European Politics
Director of European Studies
Department of Politics and International Relations
Royal Holloway (University of London)
Tel. +44 (0)7807184545
Twitter: @James_Sloam