INTRODUCTION

In the following pages you find the Semi-final program for the 4th Annual ISPP Conference in Mannheim, West Germany, June 24th - June 27th. Pre-meeting events and special workshops will take place June 21st - June 23rd. TRAVEL TO MANNHEIM

Mannheim is not obscurely situated and you will have no major problems arriving by rail, road, or air. Five major Autobahns criss-cross the city providing access from all directions. Mannheim is also part of the Inter-City rail service which provides non-stop, hourly service between all major German cities. There is also direct train service from Mannheim to most major European cities: Amsterdam, Bern, Brussels, Copenhagen, Milan, Paris, Rome, Strasbourg, and Zurich.

If you are flying into Frankfurt there are two ways you can come to Mannheim (which is about 90 km south of Frankfurt) (provided you don't rent a car and drive, which will take approximately an hour). There are three direct trains a day between the Frankfurt Airport and Mannheim (and vice versa):

Dep. Frankfurt Airport	Arrive Mannheim
9.12 a.m.	10.13 a.m.
13.10 p.m.	14.12 p.m.
20.58 p.m.	21.59 p.m.
Dep. Mannheim	Arrive Frankfurt Airport
7.02 a.m.	8.02 a.m.
10.46 a.m.	11.43 a.m.
19.36 p.m.	20.34 p.m.

In the event you cannot make a direct connection from the Frankfurt Airport to Mannheim, take the "S-Bahn" from the Airport into Frankfurt's "Hauptbahnhof" or Main Train Station, then transfer to an Inter-City Train from Frankfurt to Mannheim. These usually leave from Track 8 or 9 (but check the Departure Schedule in any event).

Trains depart Frankfurt for Mannheim at every 37 minutes past the hour and depart Mannheim for Frankfurt every 33 minutes past the hour (after 9⁰⁰). (Hint: even if you must change trains in Frankfurt Main Train Station, buy your train ticket anyway at the counter in the airport (Bahnhof, Frankfurt Flughafen) since there are no long lines to contend with; and ask for an Inter-City-"Zuschlag" or supplement ticket for riding the fast trains.)

In the event you encounter particular difficulties traveling to Mannheim please contact Prof. Kaase or his staff, who will try to assist you.

HOTEL RESERVATIONS

Mannheim's Tourist Bureau will be making hotel reservations for us. Enclosed with the program you will find a yellow card requesting the type of room you wish: a double or single bedded room with bath or shower, days of arrival and departure, and quality of hotel (priced accordingly). Please complete the card indicating that you are attending the ISPP Conference (Tagung) and mail it to the

Verkehrsverein Mannheim
Postfach 25 60
6800 Mannheim 1
West Germany

The Verkehrsverein will mail you a confirmation of your room reservation which you should bring with you when you check into the Hotel or Pension.

If the local Headquarters staff can be of any help to you regarding room reservations, please contact Prof. Kaase, tel. 0621-292-5316, or his staff, Marion Alexis, tel. 0621-292-5311, or Andrea Gerth, tel. 0621-292-5315.

COPYING SERVICE

For those who wish, we will reduce and copy manuscripts. The cost will be -,10 Pfennig per page. A special desk will be set up near the Registration desk for the pick-up and delivery of papers and copies. Payment must be made immediately upon submission of material to be copied.

SOCIAL EVENTS

The Conference program is a full one, but there are several social events planned.

Wednesday afternoon at 5.30 is a reception in the University Schloss by the Mayor of Mannheim, welcoming all Conference participants. Thursday and Friday afternoon at 5.30 there are Cocktail Parties in the University Mensa and on Saturday afternoon at 5.00 at the close of the session is a Reception honoring the ISPP President, Philip E. Converse, also in the Mensa.

Thursday, June 25, is the Founders' Dinner at the Steigenberger Hotel near the Wasserturm (Mannheim Landmark!) on the Augusta-Anlage. All participants are invited to attend and we ask those of you who wish to come to indicate how many places you wish reserved on the form on the next page. The guest speaker this year will be Professor Dr. Martin Irle. Mail in the form by June 10 and send to Prof. Max Kaase (for address, see registration form). The charge for the dinner is DM 90,- or $40.00.

Again, we ask that you make the payment by bank transfer, bank check or Eurocheque. We realize that pre-payment may be a bit more difficult for our American colleagues, therefore payment for the dinner may be made at the time of in-person registration. However, we ask you to submit the registration form in any event so that we can have an idea of how many will be in attendance.

THE ERIK ERIKSON AWARD

The Early Career Award Committee, under the Chairmanship of Jack Dennis, has determined guidelines for the award and has selected a distinguished founder of ISPP in whose name the award will be given. Chairman Dennis has asked that the following announcement be sent to all members:

The Erik Erikson Award will be presented for the first time by the International Society of Political Psychology at its annual meeting to be held in Mannheim, Federal Republic of Germany, June 22-27, 1981. The Erikson Award is for outstanding work by a scholar who is still early in her or his professional career. Those who are not more than five years past their terminal degree at the time of application are eligible for this award. Work that may be submitted includes a completed Ph.D. dissertation, a published book or monograph or an ambitious analytic article (or series of articles on the same topic), that have been published or accepted for publication. The topic can be in any area of the study of political psychology. Topics are not limited to any particular theoretical or methodological approach, or to any disciplinary or geographical area.

Given that all of the review committee members speak and read English, the material submitted should be written in, or translated into, that language. Three copies of the work submitted should be sent to

Prof. Jack Dennis
Department of Political Science
North Hall
1050 Bascom Mall
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin

by May 15 for 1981 consideration and by January 1, 1982 for 1982 consideration. This material will be returned if so requested, after the review. To receive full consideration, submissions should be made by academic departments or equivalent organizations on the basis of one submission maximum per submitting organization.

TASK FORCE MEETING ON LEGAL RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES IN SOCIAL RESEARCH

(Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 24, 9.00-11.30)

We would like to call your attention to a newly forming Task Force which will meet at the assigned time for ISPP Committees and Task Forces during the Mannheim meeting. This Task Force on Legal Rights and Responsibilities in Social Research will be chaired by our Executive Director, Jeanne N. Knutson. If you are interested in participating please contact her directly at ISPP Conference Headquarters in Mannheim, or write to her in care of ISPP, 415 Bentley Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90049, USA. We are particularly interested in broad international participation on this Task Force.

This Task Force grows out of a shared concern in understanding present rights and duties in conducting social research, in defining what those rights and duties optimally should be, in forming an advocacy and information center for those rights and duties. To date, the American Bar Association, the American Psychological Association, the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues are among those who have enthusiastically agreed to appoint a member of their organization to work with ISPP members on this Task Force, the work of which is seen to be critical for many areas of research of interest to ISPP members.

PRE-MEETING WORKSHOPS

As part of ISPP's dedication to providing experiences of continued education - training in and analysis of research needs, data-gathering strategies and areas of substantive knowledge - a limited number of pre-meeting workshops are offered before the formal scientific meeting each year. These workshops are offered to those with expertise (or a desire to gain expertise) in a particular area - and they are offered on a first come, first serve basis. They are generally limited to an audience of fifteen, who will hear informal presentations of data by pre-arranged contributors and will then work intensively under the direction of the workshop chairman.

If you are interested in participating in any one of the pre-meeting workshops (one through five as described below), please contact the workshop chairman directly. Complete and return the Registration Form on page 4a as soon as possible and mail to the workshop chairman. The addresses are listed below with a description of the workshop theme. The times of the workshops are noted on the semi-final working sessions program. Room assignments will be included in the final program you will receive in Mannheim when you register.

Workshop 1: The Legacy of Naziism,
Monday, June 22, 9.00 - 5.00

Chair: Jeanne N. Knutson, Department of Psychiatry and Bio-behavioral Sciences,
University of California at Los Angeles,
90024, USA

This workshop will examine the historic experience of Naziism as a specific event in the twentieth century from the viewpoint of its sequelae in significant areas of shared life experience, from our understanding of history to conflict resolution in the Middle East to attitudes of young people to democratic values.

Workshop 2: Attitudes Towards The Military and Socialization Effects of Military Service: The Problem of Civil-Military Relations
Tuesday, June 23, 9.00 - 5.00

Chair: Ralf Zoll, Sozialwissenschaftliches Institut der Bundeswehr, Schleissheimer Str. 418, 8000 München 45, FRG

This workshop will be continued on Wednesday, June 24.

The social and political problems of the military and the relationship between the military and society have not been predominant concerns of social science research. Given the mission of the military and its need to prepare for eventual performance, these areas require more focused attention than they have till now received.

It is the aim of this workshop to concentrate on two questions concerning the military and the relationship between the military and society. First, the workshop will examine the general attitudes of the population toward security policy and the armed forces and how these opinions have developed across time. Second, the workshop will discuss the effects of military service on soldiers, in terms of their social and political attitudes, taking into account the above mentioned societal conditions.

The bases of discussion will be the results from studies which have focused on the development of attitudes toward the military: a combined quantitative (representative sample) and qualitative (biographical interviews) study on the development of attitudes towards the military; a comparative study on actual public opinion on security policy and armed forces in at least three Western countries; a study on the short and long term influence of socialization processes in the military.

Participants in the workshop will come from Great Britain, the Netherlands, the USA, France, Switzerland, Italy and the Federal Republic of Germany and will represent the disciplines of psychology, social psychology, sociology, political science and history and will include commissioned officers in the military.

Workshop 3: Physiological and Biological Correlates of Political Behavior
Tuesday, June 23, 9.00 - 5.00

Chair: Albert Somit, President, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Illinois 62901, USA

This workshop will be focused on the manner in which concepts and techniques derived from the physiological and biological sciences are being utilized in studying and explaining phenomena. Among the disciplines which have contributed to this development are ethology, sociobiology, population genetics, neurology, endro-chronology, developmental psychology and psychophysiology. Participants in the workshop will include political scientists, biologists, psychologists.

Workshop 4: Psychological, Social and Political Roots of Terrorism
Tuesday, June 23, 9.00 - 5.00

Chair: Jeanne N. Knutson, Department of Psychiatry and Bio-behavioral Sciences, University of California at Los Angeles, 90024, USA
Jakob Katwan, Institut für Internationalen Wissenschaftlichen Austausch, Kurfürstendamm, 1000 Berlin 15, FRG

This workshop will employ a multi-variate, interactive model to analyze the various factors which, in differing proportions, eventuate in acts of political violence, with the emphasis of the workshop being inclusive in scope and international in application.

Workshop 5: The Psychology of Conflict Resolution
Tuesday, June 23, 9.00 - 5.00

Chair: Morton Deutsch, Department of Psychology, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, New York 10027, USA

The workshop will focus on the social-psychological aspects of conflict at three different levels: the interpersonal, the intergroup, and the international.
