International Society of Political Psychology
32nd Annual Scientific Meeting

Overcoming Political Violence, Injustice, & Deprivation:
Perspectives from Political Psychology

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

14 –17 July 2009
Trinity College • Dublin, Ireland

PURPOSE

To facilitate communication across disciplinary, geographic, and political boundaries among scholars and concerned individuals in government and public posts, the communications media, and elsewhere who have a scientific interest in the relationship between politics and psychological processes.

• To advance the quality of scholarship in political psychology.

• To increase the usefulness of work in political psychology.

Jeanne N. Knutson, Founder of ISPP and Executive Director, 1978-1981
Welcome everyone to our 32nd meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology in Dublin, Ireland on behalf of the Program Chairs, the Central Office, and the Governing Council.

This year's conference theme is: “Overcoming Political Violence, Injustice, and Deprivation: Perspectives from Political Psychology.” Humanity living in the twenty-first century faces terrible problems—grounded in complex realities—whose solutions must be addressed by political means. Psychological perspectives can provide unique insights about the roots of political problems and about strategies for constructive political change. As just one example, our multifaceted discipline of political psychology has developed a considerable knowledge base about how psychological processes and images are involved in sustaining inter-ethnic violence—knowledge that also has considerable potential for helping to improve inter-ethnic relations. Political psychology has applicability for addressing many other political problems as well. Our interdisciplinary approach encourages the application and integration of ideas and research methods from psychology and other disciplines for understanding specific political problems. Thanks to decades of work already devoted to develop, test, and disseminate ideas in political psychology, our field is becoming increasingly sophisticated and relevant. As political psychologists we contribute in many ways as scholars, teachers, and activists to promote the societal values of peace, social justice, and well-being. We owe tremendous gratitude to those in the past who have helped to pave our way as well as to our colleagues and junior scholars who journey onwards with us and beyond us on this path.

Our annual conference at ISPP provides a special opportunity for political psychologists of diverse perspectives and from many parts of the world to come together for learning, inspiration, and fellowship. Orla Muldoon and Neil Ferguson as this year’s program chairs have created a marvelous program that reflects this intellectual breadth. Included are an exciting array of poster sessions, a keynote address by Nevitt Sanford Award Winner Joseph Montville: “Healing the Family of Abraham: A Political Psychology Approach to Jewish-Christian-Muslim Reconciliation,” and paper panels and roundtables ranging in topics from those of “Issues of Fairness, Caring, and Understanding” to “Political Narrative,” to “Understanding and Dealing with Terrorism.”

The Opening Reception will be held at Trinity University, and the Awards Celebration will take place at the popular restaurant Fallon & Byrne. We hope you will be able to attend these events, as well as many of the panels on the program, and still have time to enjoy the magnificent city that is Dublin. A number of special tours have been organized to facilitate your learning and enjoyment.

Our junior scholars are highly valued members of ISPP, as reflected by several special events that have been planned for them at this year’s conference. We hope that many of our junior scholars will participate in the Junior Scholars’ Social Hour, the mentoring tea, and two roundtables offering tips on publishing and successful grant writing.

I look forward to meeting as many of you as possible and wish you a very rewarding and enjoyable conference.

• Cheryl Koopman, ISPP President
Welcome Letter
From the Program Chairs

Cead Mile Failte to the 32nd annual scientific meeting of the ISPP in Dublin. This conference will be one of our largest and reflects the diversity of our membership and their interests. Our growing numbers and increasing diversity reflect the growing stature of the discipline of political psychology and its relevance to the world we live in.

The theme of our conference (Overcoming Political Violence, Injustice, and Deprivation: Perspectives from Political Psychology) has a special relevance for Ireland, North and South, and the panels, roundtables, and posters will help us explore these issues and gain a better understanding of how to transform the violence and inequality people face across the globe.

We would like to thank President Cheryl Koopman for inviting us to co-chair this year’s ISPP conference at Trinity College Dublin and for choosing such an appropriate theme for a conference to be held in Ireland. We would also like to thank the section chairs (listed in this program) for all their time and effort spent reviewing papers and creating the wonderful panels that are the heart of the conference. Radell Roberts and the ISPP Central Office deserve immense praise for keeping us on track, up to date, and informed. We are also grateful to Linda Patten and Joan Streegan who liaised with Trinity College and looked after the conference logistics and produced the program book. We would also like to thank Laura Smith from All Academic (our online submissions/review scheduling system) for her technical help and support. Finally, we would like to thank Nadia Khatib and the Junior Scholars Committee.

This conference follows in the footsteps of Tereza Capelos and Cheryl Koopman’s previous Paris ISPP conference and those of Jamie Druckman and Martin Rosema who developed and computerized the submission and review process. We have continued to use their format and program sections in this conference. Ultimately, it is you the delegate that makes the conference, not us the program chairs, so we thank you for all your endeavours in the area of political psychology and we hope to rub shoulders with you again next year in San Francisco.

We hope you leave Dublin inspired, refreshed, with both new friends and fresh ideas.

• NEIL FERGUSON & ORLA MULDOON, Program Chairs

Welcome Letter
From the Junior Scholars Committee

Welcome to the 32nd annual meeting of the ISPP in Dublin, Ireland! The Junior Scholars Committee (JSC) is excited to offer a number of special events and opportunities at this year’s meeting. We hope that all junior scholars—graduate students and faculty of up to 8 years post-PhD—will participate and benefit from our ongoing activities.

First of all, we would like to invite you to join us for the Junior Scholars Social Hour on Tuesday evening from 5:30-6:30 in the Atrium of the Hamilton Conference Centre, just prior to the Opening Reception. Don’t miss your chance to network with other fellow junior scholars, enjoy some free refreshments, and learn more about what the JSC has to offer. Please note that attendance is limited to junior scholars only.

The JSC is once again offering a number of activities geared towards professional development. We are continuing our mentorship program this year, which matches junior and senior scholars with shared research interests and gives them the opportunity to meet one-on-one at the conference. We hope that all of who pre-registered to participate will attend the Mentoring Tea from 4:30-5:45 on Wednesday in the Trinity Dining Hall. In addition, don’t miss this year’s career development roundtable, which focuses on “Successful Grant Writing Strategies for Junior Scholars.” Finally, we have brought back the Publishing Roundtable, which gives junior scholars the opportunity to meet with journal editors to discuss tips on getting published.

ISPP and JSC offer a number of awards and opportunities for the recognition of the research contributions of our distinguished junior scholars. For those of you presenting your research at the conference this year, please consider submitting your paper for the Roberta Sigel Award for the best paper presented by a junior scholar for both co-authored and single-authored papers. Details are posted on the ISPP website and are included in this program. We would like to congratulate the junior scholar winners of the 2009 Sigel awards: Jason Barabas, Jennifer Jerit, and Margarita Krochik.

We are also pleased to present this year’s ISPP Best Dissertation Award to Samuel Pehrson. All junior scholars completing a dissertation in 2009 should consider submitting their dissertation for next year’s award; details are posted on the ISPP website and are included in this program. This year’s dissertation award carries a monetary prize of $250. We also strongly encourage contributions to ISPP’s endowment so that we may continue to fund this award.

Finally, we are excited to have been able once again to offer travel scholarships to junior scholars in need of financial assistance to attend the annual meeting. We hope to continue this program for future conferences.

We look forward to seeing you at the many JSC-sponsored events in Dublin. Enjoy the conference!

ST. PATRICK’S CATHEDRAL

Saint Patrick on his journey through Ireland is said to have passed through Dublin. In a well close to where the cathedral now stands, he is reputed to have baptised converts from paganism to Christianity. To commemorate his visit, a small wooden church was built on this site, one of the four Celtic parish churches in Dublin. In 1191 under John Comyn, the first Anglo-Norman archbishop of Dublin, Saint Patrick’s was raised to the status of a cathedral and the present building, the largest church in the country, was erected between 1200 and 1270. Over the centuries, as the elements, religious reformation, and persecution took their toll, the cathedral fell into serious disrepair, despite many attempts to restore it. Eventually between 1860 and 1900 a full-scale restoration based on the original design was carried out by the Guinness family. Saint Patrick’s has contributed much to Irish life throughout its long history. The writer and satirist Jonathan Swift was dean from 1713–45. His grave and epitaph are situated near the entrance of the cathedral. The massive west tower dates from 1370 and houses one of the largest peals of bells in Ireland. The choir school was founded in 1432 and the cathedral choir took part in the first performance of Handel’s Messiah in 1742. The Huguenots worshipped here from 1666 to 1816. Saint Patrick’s is not, however, a museum, but a living building with services held every day of the year, and sung services on six days of the week. The choir sings two services every day during school terms, the only cathedral in Ireland or Britain to do so. The Chapter is made up of canons from all parts of the country and each canon spends some time of every year in residence.

CHRIST CHURCH

This magnificent cathedral is difficult to appreciate fully if you walk up the street that runs in front of it, as it is actually below street level. It was designed to be seen from the river, so walk to it from the river side in order to truly appreciate its size and the way it dominates the neighborhood. It dates from 1038, when Sitric, Danish king of Dublin, built the first wooden Christ Church here. In 1171, the original foundation was extended into a cruciform and rebuilt in stone by the Norman warrior Strongbow. The present structure dates mainly from 1871 to 1878, when a huge restoration took place that is controversial to this day, as much of the old detail was destroyed in the process. Still, magnificent stonework and graceful pointed arches survive. There’s also a statue of Strongbow inside, and some believe his tomb is here as well, although historians are not convinced. Look out for a heart-shaped iron box in the southeast chapel, which is believed to contain the heart of St. Laurence O’Toole. The best way to get a glimpse of what the original building must have been like is to visit the crypt, which is original to the 12th-century structure.

THE ARK CULTURAL CENTER FOR CHILDREN

Every year, more than 20,000 children visit this unique cultural center where they are the makers, thinkers, doers, listeners, and watchers. Age-specific programs are geared to small groups of kids from 4 to 14 years old. There are organized minicourses (1-2 hr. long) designed around themes in music, visual arts, and theater, as well as workshops in photography, instrument making, and the art of architecture. The custom-designed arts center has three modern floors that house a theater, a gallery, and a workshop for hands-on learning sessions. Weekdays are often booked for school groups, but Saturdays (and sometimes Sunday) are kept open for families. Check the current themes and schedule on The Ark’s very helpful website and book well ahead.

DUBLIN ZOO

Sprawling across 24 hectares (59 acres) of bucolic Phoenix Park on the north bank of the Liffey, this modern, humane zoo provides a naturally landscaped habitat for more than 235 species of wild animals and tropical birds. Highlights for youngsters include the Children’s Pets Corner and a train ride around the zoo. Self-explanatory exhibits include “African Plains,” “Fringes of the Arctic,” and the “World of Primates.” There are playgrounds and gift shops throughout the zoo. A downside: The restaurants within the zoo serve only fast food, but there are plenty of picnic areas for folks who want to bring their own meals.

DUBLIN CASTLE

This 13th-century structure was the center of British power in Ireland for more than 7 centuries, until the new Irish government took it over in 1922. You can walk the grounds for free, although this is largely municipal office space now and is disappointingly dominated by parking lots. Still, it’s worth a wander; highlights include the 13th-century Record Tower; the State Apartments, once the residence of English viceroys; and the Chapel Royal, a 19th-century Gothic building with particularly fine plaster decoration and carved-oak gallery fronts and fittings. If they’re open, check out the Undercroft, an excavated site on the grounds where an early Viking fortress stood, and the Treasury, built in the early 18th century. There are also a vaguely interesting on-site craft shop, heritage center, and restaurant.

KILMAINHAM GAOL

This is a key sight for anyone interested in Ireland’s struggle for independence from British rule. The prison has a dark history that is intrinsically linked with struggle. Within these walls, political prisoners were incarcerated, tortured, and killed from 1796 until 1924. It is one of the largest unoccupied jails in Europe, covering some of the most heroic and tragic events in Ireland’s emergence as a modern nation from 1780s to the 1920s. The leaders of the 1916 Easter Uprising were executed here, along with many others. Future Taoiseach (Prime Minister) Eamon de Valera was its final prisoner. To walk along these corridors, through the grim exercise yard, or into the walled compound is a moving experience that lingers in your memory. The jail is also the backdrop of many Hollywood movies, such as: “The Italian Job”, “The Whistle Blower”, “In the Name of the Father”, and many more. Attractions include a major exhibition detailing the political and penal history of the prison and its restoration. The tour of the prison also includes an audio-visual show.

BOOK OF KELLS

The Treasury houses the Book of Kells, which is a famous manuscript that contains transcription of the four Gospels and other early Christian manuscripts. The Long Room is the largest single chamber library in the world, containing 200,000 of the library’s oldest books in oak bookcases. This tour also features the “Turning Darkness Into Light” exhibition as well as the Library Shop.

Guinness Brewery

Founded in 1759, the Guinness Brewery is one of the world’s largest breweries, producing a distinctive dark stout, famous for its thick, creamy head. You can explore the Guinness Hopstore, a converted 19th-century four-story building housing the World of Guinness Exhibition, an audio-visual presentation showing how the stout is made; then move on to the Gilroy Gallery, dedicated to the graphic design work of John Gilroy; and last but not least, stop in at the breathtaking Gravity Bar where you can sample a glass of the famous brew in the glass-enclosed bar 60m (197 ft.) above the ground, with 360-degree views of the city.

1916 Rebellion Tour

Join the world renowned tour guide, Lorcan Collins, for this unique walking journey through the streets of Dublin. In 1916 a small band of armed insurrectionists declared Ireland a Republic. This event is known as the Easter Uprising, a violent battle which resulted in many deaths and destruction of many parts of Dublin. The tour will visit relevant sites of the Rebellion in Dublin to give you an understanding of this historic occasion which hastened the formation of the Irish Republic. You’ll find this tour to be a perfect blend of history and politics with plenty of fun thrown in. The cost of the tour includes copies of “The Proclamation” and additional literature.

LITERARY WALKING TOUR OF DUBLIN

This walking tour is a wonderful introduction to Dublin’s literary past and exciting pub culture. On this tour which is as educational as it is recreational, you’ll embark on an animated and entertaining journey through the sights and sounds that inspired great Irish writers including James Joyce, George Bernard Shaw, Brendan Behan, Sean O’Casey, Samuel Beckett, Oscar Wilde and W.B. Yeats, while not forgetting the many modern authors of our time. Kicking off at the Duke Pub on Duke Street, this literary crawl will take you to famous haunts while actors recite verses from the best Irish literature. You’ll enjoy learning about the lives of the great writers and hear some of the hilarious stories that have become folklore in Dublin’s literary circles.

HISTORICAL WALKING TOUR OF DUBLIN

In just 2 hours, this Fáilte Ireland-approved tour conducted by history graduates of Trinity College Dublin explores the main features of Irish history—Dublin’s development, the influence of the American and French Revolutions, the Potato Famine 1845-49, the 1916 Rising, the War of Independence, partition—and concludes with the Northern Ireland peace process and Ireland today. This tour will visit Trinity College, Old Parliament House, Temple Bar, City Hall, Dublin Castle, Wood Quay, Christ Church Cathedral, and Four Courts—all sites that are full of history and anecdotal stories you won’t want to miss!

POWERSCOURT HOUSE AND GARDENS

Powerscourt Gardens begun in the 1740’s and stretch out over 45 acres including a blend of formal gardens, sweeping terraces, statuary and ornamental lakes, walled gardens and over 200 variations of trees and shrubs. Powerscourt has been described as One of Europe’s Greatest Gardens and One of Ireland’s Greatest Treasures. The tour includes entry into the gardens for one of the mapped walks and a short time for the Powerscourt shops and tearooms, travelling onwards through the picturesque countryside of Roundwood and Laragh, to another highlight of our tour—Glendalough. The Celtic Monastic System derived from the early monasteries of Egypt, and Glendalough was one of the oldest and most important of the early Irish monasteries, situated in an idyllic valley with two lakes, hence the name. Founded by St. Kevin in the 6th century, it has a high tower which is one of the most famous images of Ireland, that was used by the monks to store and protect precious manuscripts and artifacts, and also some of the finest architecture of the early church. It is one of the best experiences on a day trip out of the city. The tour returns to Dublin through the renowned Wicklow Mountains, the rugged Wicklow Gap, and the Blessington Lake.
CHESTER BEATTY MUSEUM

Sir Alfred Chester Beatty was an American of Irish heritage who made a fortune in the mining industry and collected rare manuscripts. In 1956, he bequeathed his extensive collection to Ireland, and this fascinating museum inside the grounds of Dublin Castle was the ultimate result of his largesse. The breathtaking array of early illuminated gospels and religious manuscripts outshines the Book of Kells, and there are endless surprises here: ancient editions of the Bible and other religious books, beautiful copies of the Koran, and endless icons from Western, Middle Eastern, and Far Eastern cultures. Best of all: It’s free.

DUBLIN WRITERS’ MUSEUM

This is an excellent little museum that represents the best of what literary galleries can be, and lovers of Irish literature will find it hard to tear themselves away. The attraction is more than just seeing Joyce’s typewriter or reading early playbills for the Abbey Theatre when Yeats was involved in running it. The draw is also long letters from Brendan Behan talking about parties he was invited to with the Marx Brothers in Los Angeles after he hit the big time, and scrawled notes from Behan, Joyce, and Beckett about work, life, and love. This museum opens a window and lets in light on Ireland’s rich literary heritage, and it is wonderful to walk in that glow.

Welcome to the 32nd Annual Scientific Meeting and Book Exhibit and Sale. ISPP is pleased to bring you this opportunity to examine and purchase books directly from the largest international exhibit devoted to current work in political psychology.

The exhibition will be located in the Side Lobby adjacent to the conference registration area. In general, the exhibit will open 30 minutes before the first scheduled event of each conference day and close 30 minutes after the convening of the last panel discussions. However, hours may vary, so please consult notices posted in the exhibition area.

ISPP thanks the following exhibitors for choosing to display their latest titles relevant to political psychology at our 2009 meeting. Their participation through the years has made a valuable contribution to the growth and development of ISPP and political psychology. The publishers for 2009 are:

- Blackwell/Wiley
- Taylor & Francis
- Psychology Press
- U.S. Institute of Peace
- University of Chicago
- Princeton University Press
- Fordham University Press
- Barbara Budrich Press
- Oxford University Press
- Combined Academic Press

Special thanks also goes to those authors and others who recommended publications. We regret that in some cases we were unable to acquire copies for display from the publishers.

Please note that, in the interest of reducing waste, papers will not be available for sale at the conference this year. However, they will be available online at: http://www.allacademic.com/one/ispp/ispp09/

Margarita Krochik, University of Virginia
John T. Jost, New York University
E. Tory Higgins, Columbia University
“Unseating the Status Quo: How Prevention and Promotion Motivate Voter Preferences for Change”
The Sigel award is given to junior scholar authors of the best papers presented at annual scientific meetings. Nominees must be current ISPP members.

ISPP first announced this award at its Vancouver meeting in 1996. Professor Sigel, whom the award honors, was a distinguished professor of political science at Rutgers University from 1973 until her death in 2008. She was author and editor of seven books and many articles and book chapters, mostly in the areas of political socialization and democratic citizenship. She had many leadership roles in the American Political Science Association and served as program chair, Vice-President and President of ISPP.

All ISPP junior scholars who are current dues paid members of ISPP and had their paper accepted for the 2009 summer meeting/conference are eligible to be considered for the award to be presented during the 2010 meeting. Junior scholars are students (graduate or undergraduate) and faculty who received their Ph.D. within the last eight years. Each (of the two) award carries a cash prize of $250.

There are two prizes with slightly different criteria to accommodate the authorship and publication practices in the various disciplines represented in ISPP:

- The first award is given to the best paper written by junior scholars only. In the case of multiple authors, all co-authors must be junior scholars.
- The second award is conferred to the best paper with a junior scholar first author. This award allows for a senior scholar co-author.

Please nominate (self-nominations are encouraged) eligible papers only (posters are not eligible) and submit them to the email below by August 15, 2009. Papers previously submitted for the Sigel Award are not eligible. All submissions will be read by the award committee, consisting of members of the Junior Scholar Committee as well as senior scholars. Two papers will be selected strictly according to scientific excellence and their contribution to research in political psychology.

Send nominations to committee chair, Daphna Canetti, dcanetti@poli.haifa.ac.il

The International Society of Political Psychology is pleased to continue its tradition of recognizing the best dissertation in political psychology with the Best Dissertation Award.

Next Deadline: January 15, 2010

All Ph.D. dissertations within the field of political psychology are eligible for consideration, regardless of home discipline. Dissertations should represent an independent piece of research that is the sole work of the author and gains the highest degree at the author’s university.

Nominations are due by January 15, 2010, for dissertations completed and successfully defended between January 1, 2009 and December 31, 2009. Nominees must be current ISPP members.

Nominations should be submitted electronically and must include a one-page abstract (300 word), a 10-page (3000 word) summary of the dissertation, and a letter of recommendation from the thesis advisor or committee member, all in English. Nominations should be submitted to the award committee chair: Kristina Thalhammer, thalhamm@stolaf.edu

The award committee will request a copy of the full dissertation for those selected to participate in the second round evaluation. If the dissertation is written in a language other than English, the full dissertation may be submitted in the original language for the second round evaluation, and at least one qualified reader fluent in that language will be included as a committee member for the second round evaluation.

This prize currently includes a $250 monetary award. Please forward this announcement to Directors of Graduate Studies at your institution, and any other persons to whom you think it might be of interest.

2010 ISPP Best Dissertation Award Committee Chair
July 7th – 10th 2010, San Francisco USA
Conference Theme: Making our World Anew: Political Psychology in an Age of Global Challenges
Conference Program Chair: Stephen Reicher, University of St. Andrews
ISPP 2009-10 President: Sam McFarland, Western Kentucky University

Join us for the 2010 ISPP annual scientific meeting in San Francisco! The theme of the conference is “Making our World Anew: Political Psychology in an Age of Global Challenges.”

This is a challenging theme. It asks us to interrogate our discipline on a number of levels. Do we have the insights to deal with the various phenomena that assail us from the effects of the global economic downturn, through the impact of mass migrations and cultural encounters, new and inter-connected forms of tension and conflict, to the challenges of creating environmentally sustainable communities? Do our concepts, largely developed in the US and Western Europe, allow us to understand these phenomena across the globe? Can we transform ourselves—Political Psychology—into a truly global community that is able to address phenomena on a global scale? Our ambition is to see the conference as a stepping stone towards such a community.

To address this year’s theme, the Program Chair aims to create a culture of informed discussion and exchange of ideas between people from different countries, people from different disciplines, and between academics and practitioners. We are particularly keen to make this a truly diverse conference, to include people from many disciplines, to showcase young scholars and more established scholars, and, most particularly, to welcome people from areas where, traditionally, Political Psychology has been under-represented.

San Francisco is renowned as a vibrant and diverse city, both culturally and intellectually. It therefore provides an ideal setting for us to work together, think together, and socialize together. We want the conference to be invigorating and we want to make the conference fun. So do come and join us, meet old friends, make new ones, challenge old ideas, gain new insights—have a great week in one of the world’s great cities!

FORMAT

Paper and Panel proposals: Each panel normally includes up to 4 papers addressing a common substantive topic, a chair, and up to two discussants. In exceptional circumstances, we will accept panels of 8 papers. This should be negotiated in advance with the Program Chair. We accept individual paper submissions, which subsequently will be grouped into panels with similar papers, and will be assigned a chair and discussants. We also accept proposals for complete panels that include all papers and identify the discussant and chair, which can be submitted by the panel chair as a complete session.

Posters: Poster sessions are designed to present research projects in all their phases. Posters can include information on data, results, conclusion, applications, or implementation of instruments and techniques. The aim of poster sessions is to be interactive and to provide exchange and discussion of ideas between the poster’s author and the people viewing the posters. We accept individual poster proposals, which should be submitted to the appropriate section chairs.

Discussants and Chairs: Because every panel will have a chair and a discussant in order to stimulate discussion and valuable feedback, all presenters at the conference will most likely be assigned the role of a discussant or a chair at a panel on which they are not presenting a paper. If you would like to serve in this role for a specific area of study that fits your interests and expertise, you can submit a request through the online submission system.

Roundtables: Roundtables involve two or more presenters who articulate their views on a particular topic. This can be a research area, a particular book, a method, or some other topic. We accept only proposals for whole roundtables, including the participants and a chair, which can be submitted by the roundtable chair. We do not accept individual proposals to join a roundtable.

Workshops: Workshops serve to instruct or give the audience practice in methods for political psychological research or might focus on practical program training relevant to political psychology. Workshops not charging additional fees will be given the same time slot as the other formats. Those wishing to require a fee for materials and/or needing a longer time slot to conduct a workshop should contact the program chair. We accept proposals for workshops, which can be submitted by the workshop chair. We do not accept individual proposals to join a workshop.

There will also be 60-minute keynote addresses as well as 60-minute keynote discussions where two or more people will debate an issue of importance. These will be solicited for the program by invitation only.

SECTIONS

Individual papers and posters, as well as entire panels, roundtables, and workshops, can be submitted to a maximum of two of the 10 sections listed below, with one designated as the presenter’s first choice and the other designated as second. Each section is marked with keywords associated with its most relevant topics, to assist participants in identifying the sections that best match their research interests.
SECTION | KEY WORDS
--- | ---
1. Globalization and international relations | Globalization, transitional politics, global and local economy, societal and environmental change, international negotiation
2. Migration and acculturation | Migration, refugees and asylum seekers, cultural encounters and cultural understanding, acculturation, contact, racism
3. Regional studies | In this section, we particularly encourage panels and papers from countries and regions which, historically, have not had a strong tradition of political psychology
4. Political culture, identity and language | Political and national identities, political discourse, cultural memory and identity, political narratives
5. Electoral behaviour, political communication and public opinion | Voting, political campaigns, political debates, mass media, internet, framing, priming, persuasion, advertising, propaganda, deliberation
6. Social inequality and social change | Tyranny, poverty, social justice, democracy, civic engagement, political alienation, social movements, collective action
7. Political Decision Making | Cognition, affect, motivation, information processing, heuristics, biases, impression formation, political learning
8. Crisis and conflict | Political crises, natural disasters, conflict, violence, genocide, ethnic cleansing, war, peace
9. Intergroup and intragroup relations | Stereotyping, prejudice, belonging, othering, solidarity, cohesion, social dominance, legitimacy, permeability
10. New perspectives, new developments | New areas of study and application, methodological developments, theoretical developments, critiques and controversies

The International Society of Political Psychology and the Chair for the 2010 conference emphasize methodological and theoretical plurality in all participations and welcome all approaches and all topics.

PROPOSAL SUBMISSION
Submission of proposals opens in mid September 2009. To submit your proposal, visit the ISPP Annual Meeting website at: http://ispp.org/meet.html where you will be able to submit your proposal electronically. The deadline for submissions of proposals is February 5, 2010.

Please note that all presenters, panel chairs, and discussants will need to register and pay for conference attendance. Also, if your paper submission is accepted, you will be expected to electronically upload a copy of your research paper online by June 23rd for panel chairs, discussants, and public archives. You are also expected to distribute it by email to all members of your panel (other presenters, chair, and discussant) by the same date. Finally, if your submission is accepted, you may be assigned a presentation time on any of the days of the conference.

We look forward to your participation. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us at ispp.conference@yahoo.com

Best Wishes,
Steve Reicher, 2010 Conference Program Chair

Description of Program Session Formats:

Panels: Each panel includes up to 4 papers addressing a common substantive topic, a chair, and up to two discussants. Some panels were submitted as complete sessions including all papers and discussant and chair. Individual paper submissions were accepted and subsequently grouped into panels with similar papers, and assigned a chair and discussants.

Posters: Poster sessions are designed to present research projects in all their phases. Posters can include information on data, results, conclusion, applications, or implementation of instruments and techniques. The aim of poster sessions is to be interactive and to provide exchange and discussion of ideas between the poster’s author and the people viewing the posters. Posters will be on display in the Concourse of the conference center Tuesday afternoon, July 14. Authors/presenters will be available to discuss their work 12:45-1:30pm and 5:00pm-6:00pm on Tuesday.

Roundtables: Roundtables involve two or more presenters who articulate their views on a particular topic. This can be a research area, a particular book, a method, or some other topic. Roundtables were submitted as whole sessions.

How do I get a certificate of participation/presentation?
You should receive a certificate in your registration packet upon checking in. See with our conference planner, Linda Patten of Waynewitte, at the registration table during the conference if you did not get what you need.

Will entire-text copies of presentations be available at or after the meeting?
In order to cut down on waste, we now have all available papers online at: http://convention3.allacademic.com/one/ispp/ispp09/. Many presenters also distribute copies to those who attend their presentations, and/or are willing to provide them to those who request. (When possible, we also create and post a document of abstracts directly on our meeting website: http://ispp.meet.html)

Are meetings multi-lingual?
English is the official language of all annual meetings and all participants are asked to make their presentations in English. This is because English is the language that most of our participants from around the world have in common, and we want to share information across regions. As an international society, we do, however, highly value diversity. Therefore, we encourage bi- and multi-lingual visual aids, handouts, and abstracts, and are always working toward more bi-lingual signage and written materials depending on our host country. From time-to-time ISPP is also able to provide real-time translation services for some of our special events. The high cost of these services, however, makes using them throughout our conferences impossible.

Do you provide computers, LCD projectors, and other Audio Visual/technology needs in every room for all presenters?
AV available varies per site. We work to negotiate the best possible AV situation, but often, we simply cannot afford to rent enough AV equipment to fully equip 6-10 rooms for 8 hours a day for 4 days. We highly recommend that presenters on the same panel contact each other months before the conference to facilitate sharing equipment. (Note: In Dublin, all the rooms have a Data Projector (LCD) Screen, Chalkboard, and Cable to connect laptop to data projector; the Maxwell Lecture Theater and Joly Lecture Theater also have a Multimedia Projector, DVD / VCR Player, PC compatible but not MAC Laptop Connection, Lapel Microphone, Handheld Microphone, and Document Projector.)

Will I have internet access during the meeting?
Internet access varies per site. When we hold the meeting at a hotel, we will try to select a hotel with internet connection available in rooms, but you will need to bring your own laptop. Some hotels as well as some university facilities may also have public internet stations available to all guests and/or students and faculty. This amenity is one of many we consider when choosing the best location and site. (Note: In Dublin, for the 2009 meeting, WiFi access will be available free of charge at the Hamilton Conference Center. Attendees must have a laptop with a wireless card. WiFi access will also be available FOR A FEE in the “Front Square – Apartment Single” on-campus rooms, for guests in those accommodations. Guests must purchase an access code and must have their own laptop and wireless card.)

Why are the meetings always scheduled for July?
We choose dates for the meetings based on the availability of reasonable rates for using the conference site, hotels, etc. We also try to schedule our meetings for a period of time when most academics around the world are available. This is usually mid-July for European sites and early July for North American sites.

Why do registration fees vary per year?
We set fees based on costs to ISPP for holding meetings in the venue chosen each year. Costs vary greatly per site. We try to keep registration fees as low as possible while still covering our costs. We usually do not make money on meetings, but need not to lose money or the Society would not be able to function.

Why do receptions, coffee, and special events cost extra?
We pay extra for any special events and food and need to pass those costs on to participants that attend them. We work to set all fees as low as possible to allow the most people to participate, but we must be sure to cover our costs. If we raised basic registration fees for everyone enough to cover costs for special events and receptions, many students and young scholars could not afford to attend the meeting at all.

What if I want to present at the next ISPP annual meeting?
The Call for Papers is included in this booklet, and will be posted on our website http://ispp.org/meet.html, along with instructions on how to submit. ISPP members will be notified when the submission system is open. The deadline for submitting for the 2010 meeting is February 5, 2010.
How do I register for the next meeting?
Registration opens by early to mid April before the July conference. Both online and paper registration forms will be available from our web site: http://ispp.org/meet.html.

How do I become a member, or get information about my ISPP membership status or benefits?
See: http://ispp.org/join.html, contact the Central Office, or stop by the membership table at the meeting.

What if I have another question or suggestion about the meeting?
Presenters with questions about their presentation should contact the section chairs or program chairs. Conference registration questions should be directed to ISPP’s professional conference planners, Wayneflete. During meetings, presenters and participants can come to the registration and membership tables and staff will direct you appropriately. Other questions about meetings not addressed above or about ISPP in general can be directed to the Central Office.

We would appreciate your feedback and suggestions. Please pick up an evaluation form at the membership table at this conference and return it by noon of the last day of the conference, or mail to: ISPP Central Office, 346 Eggers Hall, Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY 13244, ispp@maxwell.syr.edu. Thank you.
