WELCOME LETTER
From the President

ISPP AT 40: REVISITING CORE THEMES OF TYRANNY, INTERGROUP RELATIONS AND LEADERSHIP

A warm welcome or Fáilte to all of you! What a wonderful city to be hosting ISPP.

This year marks the 40th occasion where academics and professionals from around the globe have gathered to share, discuss, debate and advance knowledge concerning political psychology; the interface between the social system (social location, group history, politics, government, policy, laws and leadership) and psychological processes (thoughts, emotions, behaviour). We are studying these social and political dynamics at a very perplexing and challenging time in history. In line with the title of the conference we really are revisiting core themes of intergroup conflict and polarization, tyranny and challenges of leadership.

We also come together at a time, when the aims and goals (and the very existence) of organisations such as ISPP could not be more important. As outlined in the constitution the purposes of ISPP are to

1. establish a community of scholars and concerned individuals (in universities, government and media) who have a practical and scientific interest in the relationship between politics and psychological processes.
2. facilitate communication across disciplines, national and ideological boundaries
3. increase the significance of political psychology inside and outside academia; and
4. provide mutual support among members of their freedom to generate and disseminate their findings and ideas.

In 2016 and 2017 ISPP has acted to defend the academic freedoms of members in Turkey and Hungary and has established a donation drive to support at risk Turkish members. ISPP has advocated strongly for the independence of scholarship from politics.

It is timely to thank the founders of ISPP for their foresight in establishing this Society 40 years ago. The Society is going from strength to strength thanks to the ongoing dedication and service of members who have successfully steered the organisation.

- Membership is growing (we welcomed over 100 new members over 2016-2017);
- ISPP publications (Political Psychology & Advances in Political Psychology) are having greater impact and are in demand as an outlet for our scholarly

WELCOME LETTER From the President

activities (Thanks to Editors Catarina Kinnvall and Howard Levine and the Editorial teams!);

- Small grants continue to support a range of diverse activities around the globe;
- The summer academy is now a core activity that serves to facilitate communication and excellence and build our community (Thanks to Chris Weber, Instructors and all the Fellows!);
- Diversity is increasing with a wider group of talented international scholars and a more diverse Governing Council.
- Internally the systems and processes of ISPP are being professionalised reflecting the needs of a larger organisation with increased functions (Thanks to Sev Bennett and Heather Schlabach!).

There are new initiatives on the horizon including a trial of a 12 month mentoring program for early career scholars. We are developing a more integrated communication strategy so we are better able to showcase what we do and why it is important. There are also discussions about the Governing Council itself and whether it should be structured differently to improve deliberations and decision-making. At the business meeting these things and more will be discussed – please come along and join in!

Anca Minescu and Peter Gries and the section chairs have put together an outstanding program. Thank you for all your planning and hard work! A high point bringing us together each day, will be the keynote addresses and I would like to thank Michael Billig, Linda Skitka (Lasswell Award, 2016), and Paul Sniderman for joining us. The program is bursting with talks, panels, posters, blitzes and roundtables. With over 720 participants this is one of the largest ISPP conferences ever and the rooms may also be bursting so arrive early! There are also a number of ceremonies and receptions where we can celebrate achievements, get together and catch up with old friends and make new ones.

All of this indicates that ISPP at 40 emerges from a very successful past and has a very bright future ahead. I do hope you have a stimulating and productive conference and will help spread the word about the virtues of ISPP– we need a vibrant and strong ISPP.

Katherine J. Reynolds
ISPP President

From Edinburgh Program Chairs

between 11:45am and 12:45pm each full day of the conference, and are thematically grouped.

In plenary sessions, Professor Katherine Reynolds will give the ISPP Presidential Address at 5pm on Thursday, and Professors Paul Sniderman, Linda Skitka, and Michael Billig will give keynote addresses at the same time on the following days. These will address the diverse themes of inclusion, moral conviction, and national commemoration. Jerry Large, columnist for the Seattle Times, will speak on how academics and journalist can both benefit from enhanced cooperation at 2:30pm on Friday. In addition, several events run by the Early Career Scholars will focus on new generations of political psychologists, and one roundtable session will facilitate discussions with the editors of Political Psychology, on Sunday from 2:30pm to 3:30pm.

Section chairs did yeoman's work evaluating and organizing over 910 conference submissions, putting together an amazing program. Mike Quayle, Keren Sharvit, Hector Carvacho, Baris Kesgin, Femke van Esch, Harald Schoen, Peter Beattie, Pazit Ben-Nun Bloom, Mirona Gheorghiu, Paul Kowert, Emile Bruneau, Ana Maria Bliuc, and Andrew Livingstone, we are deeply grateful for your service. On behalf of presenters, audiences, ISPP and the wider discipline of political psychology: Thank you!

Special thanks also goes to Sev Bennett, ISPP Executive Director, for her tireless work facilitating conference planning and keeping us all on track. Elaine Smith, from the University of Limerick, was our program assistant, and we owe her thanks for all her hard work, diligence and kindness.

We strongly encourage all conference participants to reach out beyond their comfort zone to engage scholarship from disciplines other than their own. Political psychology will only be an integrated interdisciplinary field of study when we all seek to speak each other's disciplinary languages and learn from each other's work. While the program is dense and the breaks are short, there will be much to share and discuss. The world comes together at ISPP conferences, and this is also the time for us to give some of our collective knowledge back to the world. We trust you will join us in sharing your insights and conference revelations via social interaction and social media, during and after the conference. The Twitter feed for this year's conference is #ISPP2017, and for news and other conversations you can follow ISPP on Facebook or Twitter @PolPsyISPP.

Finally, a big thanks to all of you for your contributions to the field of political psychology! Your work in understanding how to fight tyranny, how to promote more tolerant intergroup relations, and better understand leadership and followership is essential in times of rapid demographic and political change, realignments in the geopolitical arena, and conflicting political visions on the future of people, nations and humanity. Together, we can make the 21st century more peaceful, equitable, and just than the 20th.

Enjoy ISPP 2017!

WELCOME LETTER
From Early Career Committee Chair

EARLY CAREER COMMITTEE WELCOME 2017

A big welcome to the 40th annual meeting of the International Society of Political Psychology in beautiful Edinburgh, from all of us on the Early Career Committee (ECC)!

During the past year, we have been working hard to support Early Career Scholar political psychologists, defined as those who are within eight years of their degree. We have been keeping you up to date with ECC activities, job adverts and other opportunities through our Autumn and Spring newsletters, thanks to our Newsletter Editors Kevin McNicholl and Philip Chen, and through our social media accounts, thanks to our Web Resource Coordinators, Tina Keil and Patricio Saavedra Morales. We've been particularly focused on raising the voice of Early Career Scholars through our blog (thanks again to Tina and Patricio) and ensuring that we offer lots of exciting professional development and social opportunities at the annual meeting.

I am pleased to report that this year we have been able to support (thanks to ISPP) 15 Early Career Scholars to attend the annual meeting in Edinburgh through our Travel Award Grant. Congratulations to the winners: Sigal Vainapel (Interdisciplinary Center Herzliya), Riley Carney (Harvard University), Samantha Stronge (University of Auckland), Christina Farhart (University of Minnesota, Twin Cities), Christine Stedtnitz (University of Essex), Patrick Kraft (Stony Brook University), Lucas Czarnecki (University of Calgary), Emily Fisher (Hobart & William Smith Colleges), Serenity Lee (University of Michigan), Rachel Bernhard (University of California, Berkeley), Mimoza Telaku (Ben-Gurion University of the Negev) Damien Crone (The University of Melbourne), Dennis Kahn (IDC, Herzliya), Urun Percin Boyacioglu (Dokuz Eylul University) and Philippa Carr (Coventry University).

We have also have organized a number of exciting events for our Early Career Scholars to attend during the annual meeting, we hope you to see many of you there.

On the first day of the conference we start our series of ECC events with the ECC Mentoring Lunch at 1:00 pm to 2:30 pm, arranged by ECC Mentoring Program Coordinators, Thia Sagherian-Dickey and Pip Cawley. Over lunch, registered mentees and mentors will have the opportunity for small group discussion between emerging and senior scholars. Mentees will have the opportunity to discuss their research and to get specific advice on their scholarly work. We hope that the mentors and the mentees keep in touch during and after the conference.

From Early Career Committee Chair

On 30 June we kick off with one of our roundtables organized by the ECC Professional Development Coordinators Femke Baker and Alexa Bankert. The roundtables are intended to initiate a wider dialogue between emerging and senior scholars. The first (30 June, 2:30 pm-3:30 pm) will focus on Communicating Political Psychology Research and will include a discussion around research outlets and will highlight the differences for writing for various audiences. The second (1 July, 8:30 am-9:45 am) will focus on Targeting the Right Journal as a Political Psychologist and involve advice from established scholars.

At the end of the busy 1 July program, we will hold the Early Career Scholars Social Hour offering an informal opportunity for networking among peers in a relaxed atmosphere. Always well-attended, the social hour is a great place to meet old friends, as well as new ones! Drinks will be provided. See you on 1 July at 6:00 pm.

We conclude our ECC conference sessions and events with an Elevator Pitch Workshop. During the 1.5-hour session on 2 July between 3:30 pm and 5:00 pm, mentors will provide training to Early Career Scholars. Being able to present your research in a short amount of time is an excellent skill for scholars on the job market. After the training, each participant will present their own elevator pitch in a short contest with each participant receiving a certificate of participation upon completion.

During the annual meeting, the ECC will continue to support ISPP's social media accounts. Like us on the ISPP Facebook page (facebook.com/PolPsyISPP) and follow us on Twitter (@PolPsyISPP) to stay up-to-date regarding upcoming call for papers and funding opportunities. As always, we appreciate any comments, advice or feedback on how we can best serve you, you can reach us at ecc@ispp.org.

Finally, I would like to thank to all members of the 2017-2018 Early Career Committee. It has been wonderful to be working with such an enthusiastic and talented group of early career scholars!

Enjoy the conference and your stay in Edinburgh!

ROBERTA SIGEL

Early Career Scholars Paper Award

Roberta Sigel Early Career Scholar Paper Award 2018

The Sigel Award is given to early career scholar authors of the best papers presented at annual scientific meetings in a symposium, paper panel, or poster session.

ISPP first announced this award at its Vancouver meeting in 1996. Professor Sigel, whom the award honors, was a distinguished professor of political science at Rutgers University. She was the author and editor of seven books and many articles and book chapters, mostly in the areas of political socialization and democratic citizenship. She had many leadership roles in the American Political Science Association and has served as program chair, Vice-President and President of ISPP.

All ISPP early career scholars who are current dues paid members of ISPP and had their paper accepted for the 2017 Annual Meeting are eligible to be considered for the award to be presented during the 2017 meeting. Early career scholars are students (graduate or undergraduate) and faculty who received their Ph.D. within the last eight years. Each award carries a cash prize of $250.

There are two awards with slightly different criteria to accommodate the authorship and publication practices in the various disciplines represented in ISPP:

- The first award is given to the best paper written by early career scholars only. In the case of multiple authors, all co-authors must be early career scholars.
- The second award is conferred to the best paper with an early career scholar first author. This award allows for a senior scholar co-author.

Please nominate (self-nominations are encouraged) eligible papers only (note all submissions as papers; poster format submissions are not acceptable) and submit them to the email below by January 15, 2018. Papers previously submitted to the Sigel Award are not eligible. All submissions will be read by the award committee, consisting of members of the Early Career Committee as well as senior scholars. Two papers will be selected strictly according to scientific excellence and their contribution to research in political psychology.

BEST DISSERTATION AWARD

Announcement 2017

Best Dissertation Award Announcement 2018

The International Society of Political Psychology is pleased to announce a call for nominations for the Best Dissertation Award, given for the first time at the 2008 Annual Meeting in Paris.

All Ph.D. dissertations within the field of political psychology are eligible for consideration, regardless of home discipline. Dissertations should represent an independent piece of research that is the sole work of the author and gains the highest degree at the author's university.

Nominations are due by January 15, 2018, for dissertations completed and successfully defended between Jan. 1, 2017, and Dec. 31, 2017. Nominees must be current ISPP members. Nominations should be submitted electronically and must include a one-page abstract (300 word), a 10-page (3,000 word) summary of the dissertation, and a letter of recommendation from the thesis adviser or committee member, all in English.

For more information, see <http://www.ispp.org/awards/best-dissertation>

Send nominations to the 2018 Award Committee Chair:

Laura K. Taylor
Queen's University, Belfast
L.Taylor@qub.ac.uk

The award committee will request a copy of the full dissertation for those selected to participate in the second round evaluation. If the dissertation is written in a language other than English, the full dissertation may be submitted in the original language for the second round evaluation, and at least one qualified reader fluent in that language will be included as a committee member for the second round evaluation.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS USA July 4 – July 7, 2018
The 41st Annual Meeting

ISPP 2018: Beyond Borders and Boundaries: Perspectives from Political Psychology

Where: Hilton Palacio del Rio, San Antonio, Texas USA

When: July 4-July 7, 2018

President: Eva G. T. Green (University of Lausanne, Switzerland)

Conference Program Co-Chairs: Bethany Albertson (University of Texas at Austin, U.S.) & Frank Asbrock (Chemnitz University of Technology, Germany)

In contemporary societies there is a constant and simultaneous tendency both to construct and to contest boundaries between people. This conference aims to take stock of the social, scientific and political significance of various forms of boundaries and boundary making for political psychology. Boundaries range from tangible to symbolic, from porous to impermeable, and from changing to stable forms of separation and demarcation. Triggered by societal events such as domestic and international armed conflicts and legitimized by traditional and more recent political actors such as the increasingly influential right-wing populist movements, boundary making is heavily politicized. The current refugee crisis in Europe and elsewhere in the world has resulted in enhanced border controls, in the construction of physical borders as well as in a surge of exclusionary, but also of inclusive stances in public opinion. Economic inequalities reinforced by the great recession, in turn, harden the boundaries between the privileged and the less fortunate. Boundary making manifests itself in everyday talk about groups, in processes of identification with leaders, with groups and with protest movements, in attitudes towards other groups, in individual and institutional processes of discrimination, as well as in violent and destructive behaviours. Defining and asserting boundaries cuts across social categories such as social class, gender, ethnicity, nationality, religion and sexuality as well as value- and ideology-based categories. Yet, many political leaders and popular movements strive to attenuate or abolish group boundaries and to bring about social cohesion by reducing social inequalities, providing equal opportunities, fighting discrimination, or facilitating access within the borders of a nation. Going beyond boundaries is a condition for enhanced cohesion, inclusion and empowerment. The opposing forces of making and breaking boundaries are intertwined and occur in parallel.

SAN ANTONIO July 4 – 7, 2018

Call for Proposals & Papers

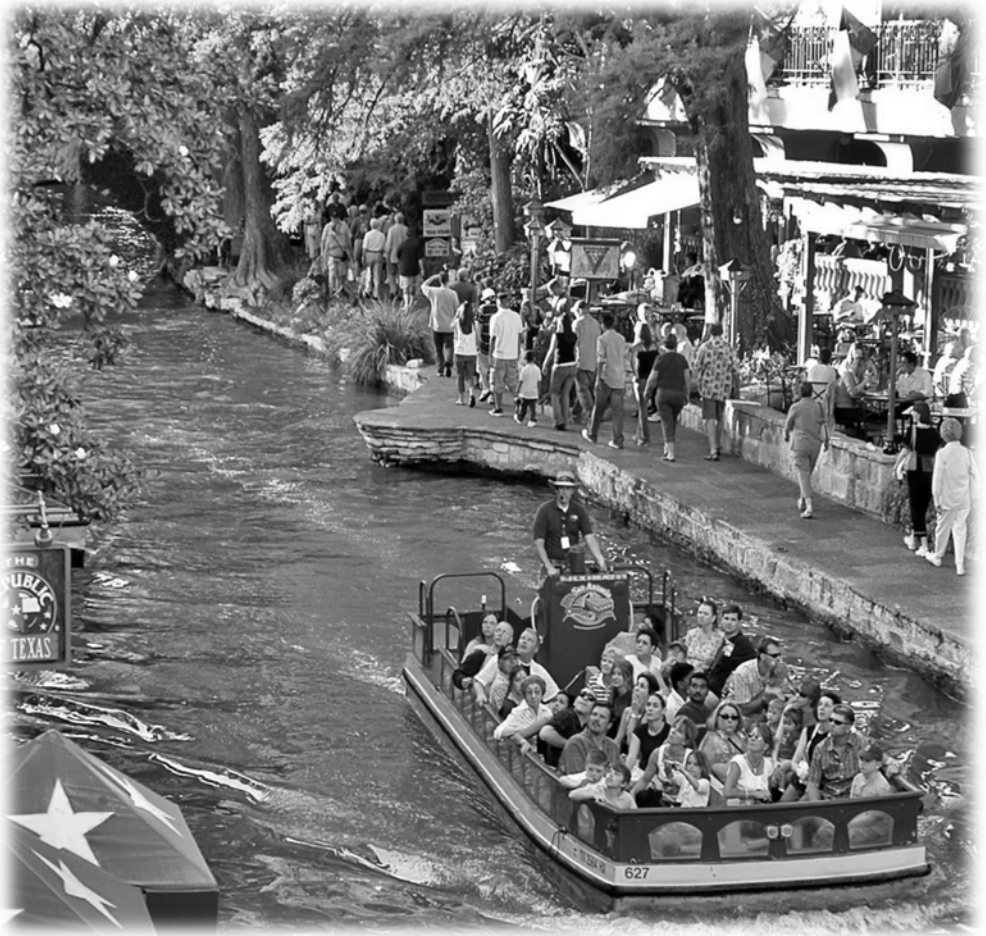

We invite you to participate in the ISPP Annual Meeting of 2018 in San Antonio, Texas, USA. We are particularly interested in proposals that provide new theoretical or empirical insights into the dynamics of boundary making and boundary contestation. The conference emphasizes theoretical and methodological plurality and hopes to bring together new research from the fields of psychology, political science, sociology, economics, anthropology, biology, geography, communication, history, philosophy, and other disciplines. Symposia, roundtables, papers, and posters on any other topic in political psychology are also welcome.

We wish to bring about an inclusive and enriching intellectual exchange between political psychologists from different backgrounds in order to reach a better understanding of the dynamics of society and politics in the world today, to outline possible societal change, and to discuss how political psychologists can contribute to such change.

We look forward to seeing you in San Antonio next summer. Watch the ISPP Annual meeting web page for updates!

Additional Conference Information

Registration

Participants can pick up their conference materials beginning at 3:00 PM on 29 June at the Registration tables in the Quincentenary Reception area. Registration will again be open all day beginning at 7:30am on 30 June, 8:00am on 1 and 2 July, and will close at 12:00pm on 2 July.

Wi-Fi Access

All meeting rooms in the various buildings have Wi-Fi access. Please use the following to access the Wi-Fi:

User – SLPublic

Password – rcsedevents

Poster Sessions

The poster boards and mounting tape will be available starting at 8:30am on each day of the main conference (30 June and 1 and 2 July) for presenters to post their materials. Please check the number of your poster in the sessions listing for each day; the boards will be numbered the same and you should place your materials on the board corresponding to your number in the program. Please note that materials need to be removed IMMEDIATELY following the end of the poster sessions or they will be thrown away. ISPP is not responsible for safeguarding materials left behind after the end of the poster sessions.

Tourist Information

ISPP will have several brochures for Edinburgh and the surrounding areas available in the Quincentenary Reception area for your convenience. These brochures are free for you to take and provide some information on places of interest and tours that take you around and outside of Edinburgh. The tours are separate from the conference and must be purchased separately.

Questions?

ISPP staff and volunteers can be found at the Registration tables and near each building entrance throughout the event and can be identified by red "STAFF" ribbons on their name badges. Please come see us with any inquiries.

Politics and the Life Sciences (PLS) is a biannual, interdisciplinary peer reviewed journal with a global audience. PLS is the official journal of the Association for Politics and the Life Sciences, an American Political Science Association (APSA) Related Group and an American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS) Member Society.

PLS publishes original scholarly research at the intersection of political science and the life sciences. The topic range includes evolutionary and laboratory insights into political behavior, from decision-making to leadership, cooperation, and competition; evolutionary analysis of political intolerance and violence, from group conflict to warfare, terrorism, and torture; political and political-economic analysis of lifesciences research, health policy, agricultural and environmental policy, and biosecurity policy; philosophical analysis of bioethical controversies; and historical analysis of currently misunderstood issues at the intersection of the social and biological sciences. Contributors include political scientists, political psychologists, life scientists, clinicians, health-policy scholars, bioethicists, biosecurity and international-security experts, environmental scientists and ecological economists, moral and evolutionary philosophers, political and environmental historians, communications and public-opinion researchers, and legal scholars.
