

Just after the ISPP meeting in Lisbon there will be a satellite two-day CICA International Conference on Conflict and Political Psychology, organized by the Autonomous University of Lisbon: 16-18 July. It will start with an informal porto and cheese on the evening of the 15th, to give opportunity to the participants to know one another. It will conclude on the 19, after breakfast.

Besides any specific topic on how to deal with conflicts from the perspective of political psychology, any other topic related to Conflict and Aggression or to the main aims of CICA are welcome: deepening our knowledge about consciousness, the achievement of peace, the resolution of conflicts and the analysis of aggression and violence at all levels.

Any person interested in participating may contact <cica@autonoma.pt>, to know about important particulars, such as the call for papers, deadlines, fees, and hotels.
